

*Notice that the System Identification doesn't care about what filters are active or what the PIDs are set at during the test flight. Controller outputs are what comes out of the flight controller and sent to the ESCs. The "plant" is the ESCs+motors+aircraft dynamics, the final output of the flight controller is the input to the plant.